WCCTV 4G IR MINI DOME & HELP POINT

WCCTV's revolutionary Help Point system provides people in distress with instant access to police control rooms when they urgently need help.

Developed in conjunction with UK police forces as part of the government's ongoing Safer Streets campaign, the Help Point is an all-in-one SOS that can help prevent crimes before they occur.

The system comprises a WCCTV Redeployable CCTV unit, blue light alarm, and two-way audio control panel that allows a person in distress to instantly communicate with their local police control room.

Pushing the 'panic button' on the Help Point will initiate a crime prevention response. The police can remotely access the camera, trigger the blue light warning, speak directly to the person in distress and gather high-quality video evidence.

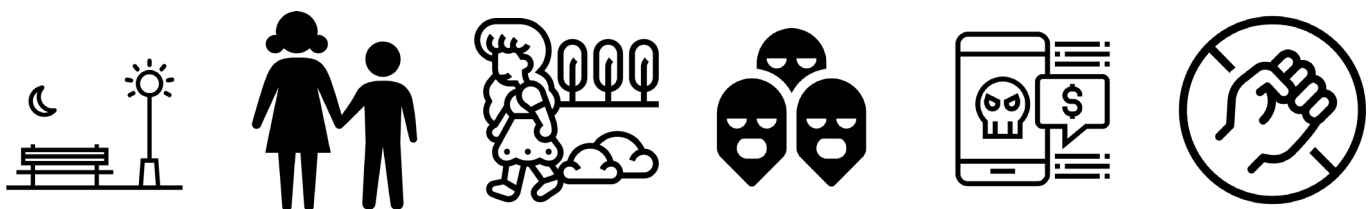

The WCCTV Redeployable Camera utilises mobile connectivity (4G, 3G or Wi-Fi) to transmit live and recorded video, meaning the operator can access the cameras remotely via WCCTV free desktop or mobile software.

The camera features local recording capability (up to 4TB), a 360° PTZ field of vision and powerful infra-red imaging for day and night operation.

APPLICATIONS

The WCCTV Help Point has been specifically designed to support Safer Streets initiatives.

Deploying the system dramatically improves safety and security for women, girls and vulnerable members of the public.
